

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

DONNA RILEY, in her capacity as the Treasurer-Tax Collector of Stanislaus
County,

Plaintiff,

v.

LLOYD G. PLOUTZ, et al.,

Defendants.

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE,

Cross-Claimant,

v.

LLOYD G. PLOUTZ,

Cross-Defendant.

No. 1:20-cv-01177-DAD-EPG

ORDER GRANTING DEFENDANT AND CROSS-CLAIMANT UNITED STATES'
MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
AGAINST CROSS-DEFENDANT LLOYD G.
PLOUTZ

(Doc. No. 81)

This matter is before the court on the motion for summary judgment filed by cross-claimant United States of America, Internal Revenue Service (“United States”) against cross-defendant Lloyd G. Ploutz. (Doc. No. 81.) In light of the ongoing public health emergency posed by the COVID-19 pandemic, the pending motion was taken under submission based on the papers. (Doc. No. 83.) For the following reasons, the court will grant the motion.

BACKGROUND¹

This case arises out of defendant Lloyd G. Ploutz's failure to pay his federal income taxes and failure to repay several other private loans. As a result of defendant Ploutz's debts, he was forced to sell his home located in Stanislaus County. The proceeds of that sale were in the possession of the county treasury, who then deposited those funds into this court's registry pursuant to Local Rule 150. (See Doc. No. 35.) The various defendants in this action have submitted respective claims to that money.

Based on a statement of facts filed by defendant Ploutz, he is indebted to the other named defendants for various reasons and in varying amounts. (Doc. No. 47 at 2.) For example, to finance the purchase of his home, defendant Ploutz borrowed funds from defendant William Morehead, a real estate lender, at an interest rate of 10%, and that loan has not been repaid. (Id.) In addition, to pay for his daughter’s medical care, defendant Ploutz represents that he borrowed $10,000 from Art Seeger of defendant Seeger Industries, Inc. (“Seeger”). (Id.) Defendant Ploutz has likewise not repaid that loan. (Id.) Defendant Ploutz also owes defendant Granada Park Homeowners Association “Monthly Fees” that he has never paid. (Id.) Lastly, defendant Ploutz concedes that he owes the United States government federal income taxes, but represents that he does not “honestly know” how much he owes in that regard.² (Id.)

On or about February 27, 2019, plaintiff Donna Riley, in her capacity as the Treasurer-Tax Collector of Stanislaus County, sold a parcel of real property owned by defendant Ploutz located at 336 De Vega Court, Modesto, CA 95354 (the “De Vega Court Property”) to pay unpaid property tax assessments. (SF at ¶ 1.) After paying outstanding property taxes and the costs of sale, $168,533.44 in excess proceeds were “on deposit in the County Treasury” and remained

¹ The relevant facts that follow are derived primarily from the parties' joint stipulated facts (Doc. No. 81-2 ("SF")), the undisputed facts as stated by cross-claimant United States which are unopposed by any other party (Doc. No. 81-1 ("UF")), and the statement of facts filed by defendant Ploutz, which is also unopposed (Doc. No. 47). This factual background is undisputed.

² Upon assessment of the tax liabilities that defendant Ploutz owed, a lien pursuant to 26 U.S.C. § 6321 arose in favor of the United States upon all property and rights to property belonging to defendant Ploutz, totaling $194,538.08, which exceeds the amount of funds deposited by the county in this court's registry. (Doc. Nos. 35; 81 at 11-12.)

1 available to distribute to legitimate claimants. (Id.; Doc. No. 1-1 at 14.) Stanislaus County
2 solicited claims to those remaining funds. (SF at ¶ 10.) The defendants in this case each
3 submitted claims to the excess proceeds remaining from the sale of the De Vega Court Property
4 (the “proceeds”), as outlined below.

5 Defendant United States submitted a claim for excess proceeds based upon two “Notices 6 of Federal Tax Lien” recorded with the Stanislaus County Recorder on March 13, 2012, and 7 September 3, 2014. (Id. at ¶ 2.) Those liens secured unpaid income tax assessments made
8 against Lloyd Ploutz for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years. (Id.) Defendant Seeger submitted a 9 claim for excess proceeds based upon an abstract judgment recorded with the Stanislaus County
10 Recorder on December 12, 2013. (Id. at ¶ 3.) Defendant Granada Park Homeowner’s
11 Association submitted a claim for excess proceeds based upon a notice of delinquent assessment
12 recorded with the Stanislaus County Recorder on February 15, 2013. (Id. at ¶ 5.) Defendant 13 Morehead submitted a claim for excess proceeds based upon a deed of trust recorded with the 14 Stanislaus County Recorder on July 6, 2012. (Id. at ¶ 6.) Defendant Ploutz submitted a claim for 15 excess proceeds based upon his legal title to the De Vega Court Property. (Id. at ¶ 4.) Plaintiff 16 Riley subsequently filed a complaint in interpleader initiating this action against each of the 17 parties that submitted claims to the excess proceeds. (Doc. No. 1-1 at 12.) Plaintiff sought an 18 order from the court requiring that the defendants interplead and litigate their rights to the 19 proceeds. (Id. at 14.)

20 Defendant United States subsequently removed the case to this federal court (Doc. No. 1), 21 and on October 1, 2020, filed a crossclaim against defendant Ploutz to reduce its income tax
22 assessments for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years to judgment. (Doc. No. 15.) After engaging 23 in discovery, defendants United States, Seeger, and Morehead reached an agreement with respect
24 to the priority of their respective claims. (Doc. No. 77.) Defendant United States notes that 25 counsel for defendant Granada Park Homeowner’s Association has indicated that it is also willing 26 to join in that agreement, but that because defendant Ploutz did not appear at the January 5, 2022
27 settlement conference in this case and has declined to join in that agreement, “the lien holder
28 parties have not yet been able to finalize their agreement in a stipulation to the [c]ourt finalizing

1 the disbursement of the disputed funds.” (Doc. No. 81 at 5.) As a result, on January 31, 2022,
2 defendant United States filed the pending motion for summary judgment against defendant
3 Ploutz, in which the United States seeks an order (1) reducing its income tax assessments to 4 judgments for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years, and (2) determining that defendant Ploutz is 5 not entitled to any distribution from the proceeds of the sale of the De Vega Court Property. (Id.)
6 Defendant United States is not requesting that the court determine the priority of the claims to the 7 property sale proceeds at this time, because it “is optimistic that the parties can finalize the 8 settlement agreement discussed” at the January 5, 2022 settlement conference, “which will 9 resolve the competing claims to the fund.” (Id. at 12.) The parties (with the exception of 10 defendant Ploutz who has not weighed in on this issue) appear to agree that before any funds may 11 be dispersed, the court must first issue an order reducing defendant Ploutz’s federal tax 12 assessments to judgment and concluding that defendant Ploutz is not entitled to any of the 13 proceeds of the sale of the De Vega Court Property.

14 Defendant Ploutz, who is proceeding pro se in this action, did not file an opposition to the 15 pending motion. On February 15, 2022, defendant Seeger filed a statement of non-opposition to 16 defendant United States' motion for summary judgment. (Doc. No. 87.) No other party has filed 17 a response to the pending motion.

LEGAL STANDARD

19 Summary judgment is appropriate when the moving party “shows that there is no genuine 20 dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Fed. R.
21 Civ. P. 56(a).

In summary judgment practice, the moving party “initially bears the burden of proving the absence of a genuine issue of material fact.” In re Oracle Corp. Sec. Litig., 627 F.3d 376, 387 (9th Cir. 2010) (citing Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323 (1986)). The moving party may accomplish this by “citing to particular parts of materials in the record, including depositions, documents, electronically stored information, affidavits or declarations, stipulations (including those made for purposes of the motion only), admissions, interrogatory answers, or other materials,” or by showing that such materials “do not establish the absence or presence of a 1 genuine dispute, or that an adverse party cannot produce admissible evidence to support the fact.”

 2 Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(c)(1)(A), (B). When the non-moving party bears the burden of proof at trial,
 3 “the moving party need only prove that there is an absence of evidence to support the non-moving
 4 party’s case.” Oracle Corp., 627 F.3d at 387 (citing Celotex, 477 U.S. at 325); see also Fed. R.
 5 Civ. P. 56(c)(1)(B). Indeed, summary judgment should be entered, after adequate time for 6 discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the 7 existence of an element essential to that party’s case, and on which that party will bear the burden
 8 of proof at trial. See Celotex, 477 U.S. at 322. “[A] complete failure of proof concerning an 9 essential element of the nonmoving party’s case necessarily renders all other facts immaterial.”
 10 Id. at 322–23. In such a circumstance, summary judgment should be granted, “so long as 11 whatever is before the district court demonstrates that the standard for the entry of summary
 12 judgment . . . is satisfied.” Id. at 323.

13 If the moving party meets its initial responsibility, the burden then shifts to the opposing 14 party to establish that a genuine issue as to any material fact actually does exist. See Matsushita
 15 Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 586 (1986). In attempting to establish the 16 existence of this factual dispute, the opposing party may not rely upon the allegations or denials 17 of its pleadings but is required to tender evidence of specific facts in the form of affidavits or 18 admissible discovery material in support of its contention that the dispute exists. See Fed. R. Civ.
 19 P. 56(c)(1); Matsushita, 475 U.S. at 586 n.11; Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA, 285 F.3d 764, 773
 20 (9th Cir. 2002) (“A trial court can only consider admissible evidence in ruling on a motion for 21 summary judgment.”). The opposing party must demonstrate that the fact in contention is 22 material, i.e., a fact that might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law, see 23 Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986); T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pac. Elec.
 24 Contractors Ass’n, 809 F.2d 626, 630 (9th Cir. 1987), and that the dispute is genuine, i.e., the 25 evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the non-moving party, see 26 Anderson, 477 U.S. at 250; Wool v. Tandem Computs. Inc., 818 F.2d 1433, 1436 (9th Cir. 1987).

27 In the endeavor to establish the existence of a factual dispute, the opposing party need not 28 establish a material issue of fact conclusively in its favor. It is sufficient that “the claimed factual dispute be shown to require a jury or judge to resolve the parties' differing versions of the truth at trial." T.W. Elec. Serv., 809 F.2d at 631. Thus, the "purpose of summary judgment is to 'pierce the pleadings and to assess the proof in order to see whether there is a genuine need for trial.'" Matsushita, 475 U.S. at 587 (citations omitted).

5 “In evaluating the evidence to determine whether there is a genuine issue of fact,” the 6 court draws “all inferences supported by the evidence in favor of the non-moving party.” Walls v.
7 Cent. Contra Costa Cnty. Transit Auth., 653 F.3d 963, 966 (9th Cir. 2011). It is the opposing 8 party’s obligation to produce a factual predicate from which the inference may be drawn. See
9 Richards v. Nielsen Freight Lines, 602 F. Supp. 1224, 1244–45 (E.D. Cal. 1985), aff’d, 810 F.2d
10 898, 902 (9th Cir. 1987). Finally, to demonstrate a genuine issue, the opposing party “must do 11 more than simply show that there is some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts. . . . Where 12 the record taken as a whole could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the non-moving party, 13 there is no ‘genuine issue for trial.’” Matsushita, 475 U.S. at 587 (citation omitted).

ANALYSIS

A. Whether Defendant Ploutz is Liable for Federal Income Tax Assessments for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 Tax Years

17 Defendant United States seeks an order from this court reducing its tax assessments
18 against defendant Ploutz to judgment.

Under 26 U.S.C. § 7402(a), this court has jurisdiction to issue orders rendering “such judgment and decrees as may be necessary or appropriate for the enforcement of the internal revenue laws.” 26 U.S.C. § 7402(a). Defendant United States asserts that pursuant to § 7402(a), it is “entitled to reduce the federal income tax assessments against Mr. Ploutz for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years to a monetary judgment of $194,538.08 as of January 31, 2022, plus statutory interest and penalties.” (Doc. No. 81 at 6.)

25 “In an action to collect tax, the government bears the initial burden of proof.” Oliver v.
26 United States, 921 F.2d 916, 919 (9th Cir. 1990) (citing United States v. Stonehill, 702 F.2d 1288, 27 1293 (9th Cir. 1983)). Acknowledging this burden, defendant United States points to the 28 ////

1 following evidence it has submitted on summary judgment of defendant Ploutz's failure to file or 2 pay his federal income taxes for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years:

- 3 • Declaration of Technical Advisor Anne Barclay
- 4 • IRS Forms 4340
- 5 • IRS Wage and Income Transcript for Ploutz's 2011 income tax year
- 6 • The United States' Second Set of Requests for Admission to defendant Ploutz (which were deemed admitted when defendant Ploutz did not respond thereto)
- 7 • Declaration of Isaac Hoenig

8 (Doc. No. 81 at 7.) According to defendant United States, the submitted evidence establishes 9 "that the IRS made timely and valid assessments, and that there is still an outstanding balance
10 due." (Id.)

11 A Form 4340 is an IRS "Certificate of Assessments and Payments" that calculates the 12 amount of tax due for a tax year. United States v. Ford, No. 1:17-cv-00187-DAD-EPG, 2019 WL
13 2297295, at *2 n.1 (E.D. Cal. May 30, 2019). Forms 4340 are a method through which the 14 United States can establish an individual's tax liability. Id. (citing Hughes v. United States, 953
15 F.2d 531, 535 (9th Cir. 1992)). A Form 4340 constitutes a proper means of establishing the facts 16 of the administrative assessment and notice and demand for payment, specifically: (1) that the 17 assessments were properly made pursuant to 26 U.S.C. §§ 6201–03; (2) that notices and demand
18 for payment of the liabilities were properly sent as required under 26 U.S.C. §§ 6303(a), 6321;
19 and (3) that a defendant is liable for the unpaid balance of taxes, penalties, interest, and other
20 statutory additions shown on the Forms 4340. See Koff v. United States, 3 F.3d 1297, 1298 (9th 21 Cir. 1993) ("It is settled in this circuit that [Forms 4340] are probative evidence in and of 22 themselves and, in the absence of contrary evidence, are sufficient to establish that . . .
23 assessments were properly made"); Hansen v. United States, 7 F.3d 137, 138 (9th Cir. 1993)
24 (finding that Forms 4340 constitute proof that proper notices were sent).

25 As a general rule, Forms 4340 "Certificates of Assessments and Payments establish[] a 26 prima facia case for the United States." United States v. Jones, 33 F.3d 1137, 1139 (9th Cir.
27 1994); Hansen, 7 F.3d at 138 (concluding that, absent any contrary evidence, the government properly relied on a Form 4340 to show that the IRS sent the taxpayers notice and demand for payment) (citation omitted). Certificates of Assessments and Payments, i.e., Forms 4340, are admissible into evidence as self-authenticating official records of the United States, carrying a presumption of correctness. See Huff v. United States, 10 F.3d 1440, 1445 (9th Cir. 1993); Hughes, 953 F.2d at 535, 540; United States v. Peery, No. 2:18-cv-01074-JAM-AC, 2019 WL 3459058, at *4 (E.D. Cal. July 31, 2019), report and recommendation adopted, 2019 WL 4605712 (E.D. Cal. Sept. 4, 2019). “Once introduced, the tax assessment is accorded a presumption of correctness and the taxpayer bears the burden of showing with contrary evidence that the IRS incorrectly calculated the tax deficiencies.” United States v. Boyce, 148 F. Supp. 2d 1069, 1081 (S.D. Cal. 2001) (citations and quotation omitted); see also United States v. Gonzales for Estate of Gonzales, 323 F. Supp. 3d 1119, 1124 (N.D. Cal. 2018) (“Introduction of the assessment shifts the burden to the taxpayer to rebut the presumption by countervailing proof.”). Although a presumption of correctness attaches to Forms 4340, a presumption of tax liability does not arise unless it is supported by a minimal evidentiary foundation. Weimerskirch v. Commissioner, 596 F.2d 358, 360 (9th Cir. 1979).
28

Here, defendant United States has not only submitted Forms 4340 that calculated defendant Ploutz’s tax liability for the 2007, 2008, and 2011 tax years (see Doc. No. 81-3), but has also presented additional IRS forms to corroborate the Forms 4340 and to establish an evidentiary foundation for defendant Ploutz’s tax liability, thereby establishing a prima facia case of that liability. See Stonehill, 702 F.2d at 1293 (“The factual foundation for the assessment is laid ‘once some substantive evidence is introduced demonstrating that the taxpayer received unreported income.’”). For example, defendant United States has attached to its pending motion IRS records showing “that in 2011 Mr. Ploutz received $13,185 in social security benefits, $24,000 in 1099 income from Sierra Pacific Distribution Service, Inc., and $98,000 from Basic Resources, Inc.” (Doc. No. 81 at 9.) According to the United States, these amounts match the “$125,841 in Adjusted Gross Income (AGI) listed on the Form 4340 for Mr. Ploutz’s 2011 tax

////

////

1 year.”³ (Id.) Defendant United States also notes that defendant Ploutz failed to respond to the 2 United States’ “Second Set of Requests for Admission” and thus has “admitted that his AGI and 3 taxable income was as listed on the IRS Forms 4340, that he failed to timely file a tax return[,]
4 and that he failed to timely pay his assessed liabilities.” (Id.)

5 The court finds defendant United States’ arguments to be persuasive. The factual
6 foundation supported by the evidence provided by defendant United States by way of its IRS
7 records, Forms 4340, and “Second Set of Requests for Admission” is sufficient to entitle the 8 United States to a presumption of correctness in its tax assessment. See Palmer, 116 F.3d at 9 1312. Moreover, despite bearing “the burden of proving that the assessment is arbitrary and 10 erroneous” to rebut that presumption, Stonehill, 702 F.2d at 1294, defendant Ploutz has presented 11 no substantive argument nor provided any countervailing evidence in opposition to the pending 12 motion for summary judgment. Therefore, and in light of the undisputed evidence before it, the 13 court will enter judgment in favor of the United States as to defendant Ploutz’s 2007, 2008, and 14 2011 income tax liability.

15 //

16 //

17 //

18

19 ³ Defendant United States concedes that wage and income information for defendant Ploutz was 20 not found as to tax years 2007 and 2008 “due to the 10-year lapse of time for record keeping on the Integrated Data Retrieval System that contains reporting of wage and income.” (Doc. No. 81-21 4 at 3.) Nevertheless, a minimal factual foundation supporting a Form 4340 is established even if the United States establishes only income earned in one year of several at issue, so long as a 22 taxpayer does not challenge that assessment with their own adequate records. Palmer v. U.S.
I.R.S., 116 F.3d 1309, 1313 (9th Cir. 1997). In other words, a taxpayer who fails to maintain adequate records of unreported income cannot argue that the amount of purported income listed 23 in a Form 4340 lacks precision. See id. (“Where the government’s deficiency determination rests on the reasonable inference that the taxpayers must have had sufficient income to support themselves for years when no income was reported, and statistics are used to reconstruct income, 24 the evidentiary foundation necessary for the presumption of correctness to attach is minimal.”).
“Of course, this presumption creates only a prima facie case, which shifts the burden to the taxpayers to rebut by showing that the inference is unreasonable in their case.” Id. Here, as 25 noted, defendant Ploutz has not come forward with any evidence, nor advanced any argument, suggesting that the government’s estimated income totals for his 2007- and 2008-income years 26 are unreasonable.
27
28

B. Defendant Ploutz is Liable for Statutory Penalties Because He Failed to Timely Pay and File His Federal Income Taxes

Under 26 U.S.C. § 6651(a)(1) and (2), the IRS assesses penalties against taxpayers who fail to timely file a return and fail to timely pay the indicated amount “unless it is shown that such failure is due to reasonable cause and not due to willful neglect.” 26 U.S.C. § 6651(a).

The amount of the penalty for failure to pay is one-half a percent (0.5%) of the tax owed for every month (or portion thereof) that the tax is not paid, not to exceed twenty-five percent (25%). 26 U.S.C. § 6651(a)(2). This penalty increases to 1% a month ten days after a notice of intent to levy is sent to the taxpayer. 26 U.S.C. § 6651(d)(1), (2). Defendant United States asserts—and defendant Ploutz does not contest—that Ploutz has not paid his tax liabilities for the years at issue in this case (2007, 2008, and 2011), and he has thus been assessed failure-to-pay penalties pursuant to § 6651(a). (Doc. No. 81 at 10.)

The amount of the penalty for failure to file a federal tax return on time is 5% for each month or fraction of a month that the return is late, with a maximum penalty of twenty-five percent (25%). 26 U.S.C. § 6651(a)(1). If, however, a failure to pay penalty is accruing along with a failure to file penalty, then the failure to file penalty is reduced to 4.5% per month. 26 U.S.C. § 6651(c). Once again, as defendant United States notes here, Ploutz did not file income tax returns for the tax years 2007, 2008, and 2011. (Doc. No. 81 at 10.) Indeed, defendant Ploutz does not contest this fact. Accordingly, defendant Ploutz has also been properly assessed failure-to-file penalties pursuant to § 6651(a). (Id.)

C. Judgment Against Defendant Ploutz

Based on the foregoing, defendant United States argues that the court should enter a money judgment in its favor against defendant Ploutz. (Doc. No. 81 at 10.)

As shown in the Barclay Declaration (Doc. No. 81-4 at 5), the aggregate balance owed by defendant Ploutz to the United States as of January 31, 2022 is $194,538.08. Accordingly, for the reasons discussed above, the court will enter a judgment in favor of defendant and cross-claimant United States against defendant Ploutz in the amount of $194,538.08 as of January 31, 2022, plus statutory interest and penalties from that date until fully paid.

1 D. Whether Ploutz is Entitled to Distributions from the Proceeds held by the Court

2 Lastly, defendant United States contends that it is entitled to an order recognizing that its
 3 claim to the proceeds from the De Vega Court Property sale—and the claims of the other lien
 4 holder parties—“have priority over the claim of Lloyd Ploutz, and therefore . . . Mr. Ploutz is not 5 entitled to any distribution from the Proceeds.”⁴ (Doc. No. 81 at 11.)

6 On March 13, 2012, and September 3, 2014, defendant United States recorded “Notices of 7 Federal Tax Lien” with the Stanislaus County Recorder’s office as to its tax assessments against 8 defendant Ploutz. (See Doc. No. 81-1 at ¶ 2.) By recording those Notices of Federal Tax Lien, 9 defendant United States’ tax lien became valid against purchasers, holders of security interests,
 10 mechanic’s lienors, and judgment creditors subject to the provisions of § 6323(b). See 26 U.S.C.
 11 § 6323(a). For the reasons addressed above, defendant United States claims that its interest in the 12 proceeds from the sale of the De Vega Court Property is $194,538.08 based upon defendant
 13 Ploutz’s unpaid taxes and penalties. (Doc. No. 81 at 12.) Thus, the United States asserts, “Mr.
 14 Ploutz is not entitled to any distribution of the Proceeds before the United States is paid in full on 15 Mr. Ploutz’s unpaid income tax assessments.” (Id.) In response, defendant Ploutz has not 16 produced any evidence, has failed to answer the complaint in this case as well as defendant
 17 United States’ crossclaim brought against him, has failed to provide initial disclosures, and has 18 failed to respond to defendant United States’ requests for admission.⁵ Accordingly, defendant
 19 United States urges the court to “enter judgment in favor of the United States and determine that 20 ⁴ Defendant United States also notes that it “anticipates filing a motion for disbursement of funds 21 consistent with the settlement discussions among the remaining parties” should the court grant the 22 pending motion and determine that defendant Ploutz is not entitled to a distribution of the 23 proceeds. (Doc. No. 81 at 11.)

24 ⁵ Defendant Ploutz has filed several letters on the docket in this action, though none are relevant
 25 to the merits of the United States’ arguments in support of its pending motion for summary 26 judgment. (See Doc. Nos. 47, 80, 88.) Rather, in his letters, defendant Ploutz apparently seeks to 27 ensure that the proper parties receive the money that he owes them. In particular, defendant
 28 Ploutz states that he wants to “make sure that the proper people like Mr. William Morehead
 ($75,000.00 1st Trust Deed Holder), Mr. [Seegers] ($9,000.00), and the Grand Park Home Owners Association ($1,300) [are] paid what they honestly [are] [entitled] to receive.” (Doc. No.
 80 at 2.) Defendant Ploutz also seeks that some funds be set aside for his own “burial and final expenses.” (Id. at 3.)

1 defendant Ploutz is not entitled to any of the funds held by the Court.” (Id. at 13.) The court
2 agrees and concludes that under the undisputed evidence submitted in connection with the 3 pending motion for summary judgment, defendant Ploutz is not entitled to any of the funds from 4 the sale of the De Vega Court Property.

5 CONCLUSION

6 For the reasons set forth above,

- 7 1. Cross-claimant and defendant United States’ motion for summary judgment against defendant Lloyd Ploutz (Doc. No. 81) is granted;
- 8 2. The Clerk of the Court is directed to enter judgment in favor of cross-claimant
United States on its cross-claim against defendant Lloyd Ploutz in the amount of 11 $194,538.08 plus interest and statutory additions as permitted by law from January 31, 2022, until paid; and
- 13 3. The court holds that defendant Lloyd Ploutz is not entitled to any distribution from 14 the funds deposited in this court’s registry.

15 IT IS SO ORDERED.

16 Dated: July 29, 2022

17 UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

18
19
20
21
22
23
24
25
26
27
28